

Frequently Asked Questions – Investors

Q: What will happen to the CBL stock that I own?

A: CBL's stock continues to trade on the exchange. Entry into the RSA does not change the Company's reporting requirements under SEC rules. Any recovery to existing shareholders will ultimately be determined in connection with the Court-supervised chapter 11 process. Please contact your investment advisor or brokerage firm to discuss the options available to you.

Q: Can/Should I sell my CBL stock?

A: Investing is a personal decision. Please contact your investment advisor or brokerage firm to discuss the options available to you.

Q: Where can I find more information?

A: The latest information on the restructuring process and answers to FAQs can be found at cblproperties.com/restructuring.
